York were $12,500 in gold and $1,019,820 in silver Specie imports were $3,394,693 in gold and

Imports of dry goods and merchandise were valued at $11,117,651. The weekly statement of the associated New York banks, issued Saturday, shows the following changes:

Reserve required, decrease...... 760,325 The banks now hold $6,031,825 in excess of the The Financier says: "The statement of the associated banks of New York city for the week attracting attention The known operations of Iccal operations with other institutions must be credited as responsible. At any rate the statement, as suggesting that it reveals the true con-dition of the banks, sets at rest the money rates for the immediate future. The gold in transit Europe and the consignments received from Australia and other sources will add appreciably to the reserves of New York institutions, but it is an interesting question whether loans will continue to contract in the volume shown over the past month. The shrinkage of $4,464,600 in this item since Oct. 22 was about as the six-day period had been unsually even approximately. There is reason to believe that the drain which the interior banks have made on New York this fall is nearly at an end, but local bankers believe that the return of this money will be slow, and will not figure appre-ciably in the statements until near the end of the year. Perhaps the first evidence of the turn of the tide will be seen in a contraction of outstanding national bank notes, the volume of which has been increased $34,000,000 in a year. iese notes are scattered all over the United States, and any redundancy in circulation will be be toward their partial retirement. The elasticity of national bank note currency under the new law, however, is yet to be tested."

WALL STREET REVIEW.

There was a very manifest disposition to sell stocks to take profits Saturday. The appearance of the unempetedly favorable bank statement mentary check to the downward movethe greater sufferer. Some stocks had a period of strength after the opening, notably Sugar, Brooklyn Transit and Metropolitan Street-railway, which were most actually affected by the selling movement. The iron and steel stocks, as a group, were weak, in spite of encouraging reports of the industry in the weekly mercial reviews. Some of them suffered to the extent of 1 to 1% per cent. In the railroad list the most conspicuous selling was in Missouri Pacific, as the latest stock to be subjected to unwarranted rumors to adance it, followed by authoritative denials. Other members of the Southwestern group fared better, notably St. Louis Southwestern preferred. The Chicago & Altons National and Kansas City Southerns were strong. South-ern Pacific continued heavy, in spite of the decision upon the new president, the Readings were quite weak at losses of a point. There was a position about the exchange to depreciate the excessive tendency of the speculation and the dness of the methods employed in some quarters. The systematic and periodical dissemination of bull canards was felt to endanger the stability of a market where buying was based on such flimsy grounds.

No intelligible explanation is offered for the large increase in cash reported by the banks for the week. Preliminary estimates of the changes, based on statements furnished by the banks themselves, and made by recognized authorities, had placed the probable loss in cash all the way om $1,500,600 up to over $5,000,000. The payment, Friday, by the subtreasury, of drafts for $1,000,-000 on account of the Australian gold recently arrived in San Francisco was not expected to figure in this week's statement.

The week has been one of great speculative activity in stocks, and has afforded opportunity to market very large holdings. The development of an outside demand has been accompanied by manipulation of prices in the interest of speculators long of stocks. The successful efforts to get prices up have resulted in handsome profits in he selling to outside buyers. That many of the buyers had in view merely a speculative operation, hoping for a continued rise in prices which would offer a profit on a resale, was evident from the selling pressure which developed on the advance, and which turned prices backwards. But the bull interests on the exchange constantly shifted their operations to new quarters of the stock list, and kept the speculative interest awake by developing new price movements. Nearly every day during the week brought forth publications alleging far-reaching changes in control and in plan for operation of great railroad properties or allied or connecting systems with promises of colossal results in profits. Looking back over the week, It is noticeable that ese stories have failed of confirmation, and in many instances have been conclusively denied, so that after the first unward jump of the stock, It has fallen back in price and become comparatively quiet in the speculation. While these facts make it evident that prices have been forced up artificially, they do not necessarily detract from the values, as a barometer of general conditions, of the increased activity and higher prices of stocks. The important point is that an utside interest has been attracted in the stock market. Previous efforts have been made to stiract such an interest by estentatious advances in prices, but without avail, and the stock market has been confined to the trading between pro-

The recent supplies of London for import, and which now amount to nearly $11,000,000, has been the determining influences in relieving apprehension over the money outlook. It had been feared that such a withdrawal of gold would have dangerous consequences in Europe, which is still cut off from its former source of supply in the Transvaal. That Euro pean markets have been undisturbed by this movement is partly due to the skill with which the exchange operations have been handled. American agents have scoured all out-of-the-way sources for floating supplies of gold, in order not

It is a fact that conservative financial circles to encroach on the supplies in the great central institutions abroad. This solicitude over foreign markets finds its cause in enlightened selfishness. as American financial interests in these markets are larger than ever before, and the country's export trade would be damaged by an upset in foreign money markets. Meantime the conviction has gained force that rosperous business and industrial conditions are assured for the coming year. The large demand for money in circulation, the increasing activity in the iron trade, the continued high level of railroad earnings, the enormous profits in cotton exports, the growing foreign demand for grain, the settlement of the anthracite miners' strike, all were of influence in encouraging sentiment over the outlook. It is the belief in business circles that a large amount of business has been held back until the passing of the peril of unsettlement incident to the political campaign, so that the approach to election has been a factor in the speculative activity, the effort being to discount post-election conditions. The week's receipts of gold in New York, on the import movement, have kept the money rate down, though the demand for credits incident to the speculation has not been without effect. The facilities afforded by the money market have been the determining cause of letting loose the speculative tendency which has been under restraint for some time. An incident of the week has been the continued advance of silver to the highest level in four years, and the apparent ulmination of the rise and slight reaction Bonds, as well as stocks, have responded to an

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: I read a statement in the Indianapolis Sentinel, signed by John Reese, of this place, dated Oct. 10, which speaks of this man as a bed-ridden soldier. This is untrue. I am well acquainted with Mr. Reese, who claims he has been "turned down" by the administration, and would try to make the uninformed believe that he is not pensioned. I fill out his pension voucher each quarter and am engaged in the pension business. I helped Reese with his claim, but he failed to establish the fact of his incurring asthma in the war. Reese, to my personal knowledge, is paying for the little farm he has bought out of the pension money he is now drawing. Mr. Reese would have the public understand that his family has been scattered on account of his failure to get a pension. live within two miles of Mr. Reese, but | The market opened weak and lower. Trade ruled never have heard of his family being scat- slow, but all were finally sold. The bulk of the 4,571 packages. Market barely steady; Western, tered. Mr. Reese speaks of getting a pension by special legislation through Representative Crumpacker, and I have no doubt but Mr. Crumpacker would do work of this estern creamery, 23½c; fresh Western prints, kind for the soldier, as from my personal knowledge of his friendship for the soldier and what he is trying to do legitimately for them cannot be questioned, and every soldier in this community, whether Democrat or Republican, has a good word for Mr. Crumpacker. Mr. Reese says he was a member of Company E, One-hundred-andeighty-second Regiment Ohio Volunteers, and I have no doubt but he is pensioned for the wounds he speaks of in his letter. The

Trusts and Their Money.

San Francisco Chronicle. If all trusts are bad then those who accept their money, illegitimately acquired, share the guilt of wrongful gain. Governor Roosevelt asks Bryan if he considered it right to take the money of the ice trust, the cotton bale trust and the whisky trust in aid of his election, and Mr. Bryan does not reply. If he thinks it right he should say so. If he does not think it right he should not seek to profit by its use.

LIVE STOCK QUOTATIONS

CATTLE QUIET, WITH INDICATIONS OF INCREASING WEAKNESS.

tion of Markets Elsewhere.

UNION STOCKYARDS, INDIANAPOLIS, Oct

27.-Cattle-Receipts, 356; shipments, 266. The receipts of cattle were small, the market was quiet on account of the limited demand from all buyers, and sales were usually at lower prices than yesterday. The receipts this week show an increase of about 200 over last week, 1,200 over the same week a year ago, and the receipts so far this year show an increase of 1,500 over the corresponding period last year. The supplies most of the week were small, and notwithstanding the demand was rather indifferent and limited from all sources, salesmen succeeded in maintaining steady prices for all good stock. The conditions were not such as to encourage a more liberal marketing, but it seems that a good many cattle were ready to come, and at the close of the week the receipts were unusually liberal.

There was no improvement whatever in the demand, and the orders were all filled long before the supply had been exhausted. Closing prices of the week were generally about 10c lower than the opening for all fat stock, and the market for other kinds was so irregular that it would be difficult to make a true statement. The demand for the best feeding cattle was about as good as expected, and steady prices prevailed, but common stockers were plentiful and had no fixed value, salesmen having to accept whatever they could get. At the extreme close of the week several loads of good cattle as well as a large proportion of common to medium grades had not changed owners. During the week steers sold as Fruit of Republican Policies.

There has just arrived at New York from a Delaware river yard a great twin screw steel freight steamer, one of the largest American cargo steamers affoat, for a new line from New York to San Francisco and Hawaii. There are six of these huge ships. Their building is a fruit of the annexation of Hawaii and the reserving of the Islandcarrying trade to American tonnage. Two steamers even greater have just been contracted for by the Baltimore concern, which is building the new Boston freight ships for Kidder, Peabody & Co. All this ferior feeders were barely steady.
